"The United Kingdom is one of the most open societies in the world and we have a right to be alarmed at what appears to be a deliberate strategy by terrorist organizations to seek to instil fear and uncertainty in a large part of society," British Prime Minister Theresa May said in a speech on Tuesday.

Q: How to save user input in to a variable in Java?
I am trying to take user input in a text box, and save it into a variable, and then add it to another variable. I want to be able to have multiple user inputs and add them together, or just print the user input. Here is what I have so far: public class Printing { public static void main(String[] args) { Scanner input = new Scanner(System.in); int firstNumber; int secondNumber; int thirdNumber; int grandTotal = 0; //Take user input System.out.println("Please enter a number: "); firstNumber = input.nextInt(); System.out.println("Please enter another number: "); secondNumber = input.nextInt(); System.out.println("Please enter another number: "); thirdNumber = input.nextInt(); //Add the user input to the variable grandTotal = (firstNumber + secondNumber + thirdNumber); System.out.println(thirdNumber + " + " + secondNumber + " + " + firstNumber = " + grandTotal); } } When I run this it won't let me add user inputs together
